New Bill Would Give Cotton Men a Choice

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Agricultural Subcommittee headed by Rep. E. C. Gathings (D-Ark.) is putting final touches on a new bill, that would give cotton farmers a choice between two levels of price supports and acreage allotments.

The group already has approved the final level idea. Gathings said, and now is working on other details of the bill.

When completed the bill will go to the full committee for probable inclusion in a farm measure soon to be submitted to the House.

Under the cotton proposal farmers would vote before Dec. 15 on whether to proceed under the present program—which is likely to mean a big acreage cut—or accept the new program for 1959, 1960 and 1961.

If more than half of the growers approve the new three-year plan it would become effective starting next year.

Heart of the plan is a proposal that cotton farmers would be able to choose between (a) a cotton acreage allotment on approximately the 1958 level and a normal price support level, now estimated at about 84 per cent of parity for 1958; and (b) up to a 30 per cent increase in the normal acreage allotment and a support price level of 85 per cent of parity.

The plan contemplates that the national cotton acreage allotment for the next three years will be 17,777,000 acres, compared with 17,400,000 acres this year. Without some legislation the allotment will be about 14,200,000 acres next year Gathings said.

The plan would work something like this:

A farmer with an allotment of 50 acres could decide next year whether to plant that 50 acres and be insured a support price of 84 per cent of parity, or plant up to 15 additional acres and get a support price of only 5 per cent of parity on the entire 65 acres.

In order to keep the plan cotton from setting the market price for cotton, the proposal is that the Agriculture Department will buy the cotton at 84 per cent of parity and put it back on the market at a 65 per cent plus carrying charges.

Subcommittee members estimate this would cost the government about $20 a bale on all 84 type cotton it handles. Estimates of the number of bales which would be in this plan, Gathings said, range from a fourth to a half of the cotton production.

"No one knows exactly how many farmers would take the high acreage, how many the low, or how much of the crop this would represent," Gathings said.

He said the $20-a-bale which the government would lose would represent a subsidy but added that the total cost probably wouldn't be any greater than the present cotton program.

Rep. Paul Jones (D-Mo.) explaining the proposal in the House recently, said:

"There would, of course, be a subsidy just as there is at the present time, but the benefits would be shared not only by the producers who stay within their basic allotments, with no reduction in acreage, but also by the domestic mills which would be placed in a more favorable competitive position with foreign manufacturers."

A part of the burden would be borne by those producers who are in a position to increase their production at a lower cost.

Gathings said larger growers presumably would take the higher acreage since they could produce the extra cotton at little added cost.

He said an advantage of the plan would be that cotton would move to the market at lower prices than is possible today and that would be more competitive with synthetic fibers and in the export market.

Capital identified the pilot as Capt. Brown, the co-pilot as Meyer and the stewardess as Miss Hunt. First names and addresses of the crew were not available immediately in Chicago.

Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic (AP)—Juan D. Peron said today he is ready to return to Argentina as soon as his followers give him the signal.

The ousted dictator emphasized that he would go at the opportune moment, presumably soon after the Argentine Congress approves a proposed law granting him amnesty and allowing his party to operate openly.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Highway Commissioner Cecil S. Lynch and his wife were reported improving today in a hospital here. They were injured in an automobile accident yesterday.

Nixon Trip Subject of Group Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said today that the State Department's own testimony shows that Vice President Nixon's Latin American tour was a trouble-causing trip which Morse said should have been undertaken.

Morse gave his views to reporters as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee weighed testimony that Communist exploitation of Latin American grievances against U. S. economic policies fanned mob violence against Mr. and Mrs. Nixon.

Robert Murphy, deputy under-secretary of state for political affairs, made that report to the senators Monday. He said Nixon was told in advance that there was danger of disturbances in Venezuela, but added that "on the heels of assurances by the Venezuelan government of its security measures, violence in Caracas was not anticipated."

Murphy also told the committee there is no evidence at present that the South American demonstrations against Nixon and his wife were directly connected with anti-American outbreaks in Lebanon, Algeria, Indonesia, or elsewhere.

Morse, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said that in view of advance warnings of the danger of demonstrations, and three reports of rumors of attempted assassination, Nixon should have confined his trip to Argentina.

Nixon represented the United States at the inauguration of a new Argentine president, then went on to other countries.

"Mr. Murphy's own testimony shows they expected trouble," Morse said. "Knowing that, it couldn't be a good idea to go on a trouble-causing trip."

It was clear before Nixon left, Morse said, that there would be trouble because of Latin American resentment against U. S. economic policies.

"The problem now is what we propose to do to help improve economic relations with South America," Morse said, "and that is a job for this committee."

President to Report to the Nation Tonight

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower left here by plane at 11:06 a. m. today for New York where he will make a major speech tonight on the economic situation.

The President came here by helicopter from Gettysburg where he voted in the state primary election.

The copter, setting down on the White House lawn, had picked up Eisenhower at 9:50 a. m. in Washington.

He was on the ground at the Gettysburg voting place for only nine minutes. His helicopter landed in a field near the polling place.

Eisenhower walked to the polling place, chatted briefly with

U. S. Planes Can Fly Over Canada

OTTAWA (AP)—American fighter squadrons armed with nuclear missiles will have authority to fly over Canada without advance approval of the Canadian government in each individual case.

This authority is contained in a Canada-U. S. agreement presented in the House of Commons today, formally declaring establishment of the Joint North American Air Defense Command.

The agreement came into effect May 12. There was no explanation why its publication was delayed a week.

It is understood an American fighter squadron now is based at Goose Bay, Labrador. There is another at Stephenville, Nfld.

Government May Fall in Venezuela

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political crisis in Venezuela appears so serious its government may fall, informed sources said today.

The mob attacks on Vice President and Mrs. Nixon apparently revealed the weakness of the government.

Resignation over the weekend of two civilian members of the junta came after repeated reports that the two civilians, and many military officers, have been dissatisfied with what they called the junta's soft policy toward Communists.

State Department officials declined to be interviewed, but it was obvious they are deeply concerned.

Look what you've been missing if you haven't driven a 58 FORD

You just can't appreciate all the wonderful things that have been done to make driving more fun... until you've checked out in a shiny 58 Ford!

Even before you start the engine, notice how much more you can see. Full Circle visibility lets you see where you're going... see what's coming... see to have!

Now launch the starter. Observe how smoothly your engine idles. That's because each Ford engine is built with painstaking care. Each V-8 is electronically balanced while operating under its own power. No other car in Ford's field goes to such lengths to bring you an engine that will operate smoothly... dependably... efficiently. (If your pick is a thrifty Six, you can't buy a more powerful, more modern 6-cylinder passenger-car engine than Ford's 145-horsepower Mileage Maker Six.)

Ease down now on the throttle and you'll take it all with the dash and verve of a Thunderbird. For after all, the 58 Ford offers you the Thunderbird's own transmission and engine team: Ford's Cruise-O-Matic Drive with a Thunderbird-powered V-8 engine, and save up to 15% on gasoline. It's like getting back 10¢ on every $4 dollar!

Next hunt up the roughest roads you can find. Notice how bumps lose their bounce with Ford's softer, riding suspension system. Notice how Ford's exclusive Automatic Ride Control combines Angle-Resist ball joint front suspension with long, tailored-to-weight rear springs so that you ride level... corner level... enjoy a "big car feel!"

And Ford gives you more... much more in the way of riding comfort. Ford seats are wide... soft... you sit in a relaxed, natural position with Ford's Automatic Posture Control. And Ford front seats are built directly to the frame for greater security, too.

Always a leader in safety, Ford again has pioneered new features to protect you. New Safety-Twin headlights, for example, keep you safer because they give better warning to cars behind you. Besides being more than twice as large as taillights on competitive cars—and more prominently positioned—Ford taillights are more noticeable when brakes are applied. And of course, only Ford offers you famous Lightning Design—the whole family of safety features designed to protect you should an accident occur.

So why not make tomorrow your day to drive a Ford? The keys are waiting for you at your Ford Dealer's showroom. See him and discover all the fun a Ford can be!

WASHINGTON (AP) — PLANS have been approved for a $80,000 Army National Guard armory at Warren, Ark., the National Guard Bureau announced yesterday. The announcement said $45,000 in federal funds has been released. The state will provide $15,000.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Rogers cafe operator Clark Baker yesterday asked the Arkansas Supreme Court to set aside two 10-year sentences he received in Benton Circuit Court. Baker was convicted of carnal abuse of a 15-year-old waitress.

MEMPHIS (AP) — W. J. Stone, an attorney at Paragould more than 30 years and a former superintendent of schools at DeVitt, died at a hospital here yesterday. He was 80.

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Federal Judge John E. Miller yesterday ordered the West Camden Development Corp. to pay the government almost $200,000.

The judge's order in United States District Court here was in a suit filed by the government. The government contended the corporation owed the money as a result of mortgage foreclosures.

The mortgages were held by the Federal National Mortgage Assn. The judgement was for $189,804.88 plus six per cent annual interest from April 1, 1953.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The Army's chief chemical officer said here yesterday $3 million dollars is needed in addition to the regular budget for research and development of chemical warfare weapons.

Maj. Gen. William M. Crensy, visiting Pine Bluff Arsenal, said that would almost double the requested amount submitted to Congress for the next fiscal year.

He said the Pine Bluff installation will not be cut back as part of a national reduction in military strength. The present civilian employment of 1,125 will be maintained, and may be increased, for the next four years, he added.

The general will spend several days here. Other top chemical officers are scheduled to join him for conferences.

Job Placement in Arkansas at High Level

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Job placement in nonagricultural employment last month was at the highest level since last October, State Employment Security Administrator James L. Bland said yesterday.

Increased demands for workers in construction, manufacturing, trade, service and private households primarily accounted for the rise, he said.

The April total was 8,094, a 22 per cent increase over the total of the previous month.

New claims for employment insurance increased 50 per cent, Bland said, in contrast to the previous outlook in job placements.

He said the period of unemployment for many persons was prolonged by rains which further postponed resumption of outdoor work, particularly in construction. At the end of April, 17,804 persons were claiming unemployment benefits, under Arkansas law and 4,394 persons in Arkansas were claiming benefits against other states.

The totals at the end of March were 13,919 Arkansas claimants and 4,017 interstate claimants.

Fined for Lying About Amount Paid

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Lawrence E. Sanders, West Memphis businessman, paid a $500 fine in federal district court here yesterday following his admission he paid workers less than the amount he reported to the Army.

Sanders, contractor for roofing and sheet metal work on an armory at West Memphis, was accused of defrauding the government. It was alleged that his payroll statements of Nov. 8 and Jan. 7 gave the wages of the workers as $1.40 hourly while the employees actually received only $1 per hour.

The case was transferred here from the Jonesboro division of federal court.

Mobilization in Indonesia Ordered

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia's army chief, Maj. Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, ordered a general mobilization today. His order said the situation in the nation is tense.

Nasution's order calling men from 18 to 40 into an army reserve corps was issued to prepare the country for civil defense and to help military and law enforcement agencies. The order did not spell out beyond that the reasons for the mobilization but informed sources said Nasution took the step because of rebel warfare in North Celebes.

Slugging Lady Batters Romance With One Blow

Dear Dorothy Dix: One night last week I was sitting in the park with my steady and for no reason at all I slapped him. He wasn't being fresh, or anything. I immediately said I was sorry but he seemed to ignore me. He didn't say anything about another date when we parted, and I have heard from his boy friend that he's very annoyed with me. He feels that since he has always acted like a gentleman he should have been treated like one. What more can I say to him except that I'm sorry?

Dear Inez: There's nothing more you can do, except repent your apology. You must appreciate the fact that sometimes we hurt people so deeply that no apologies will erase the injury. A slap in the face is an indignity that the average young man can't easily forget. If you're lucky he'll relent in time.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I quit school in my junior year to take care of my sister's children while she and her husband went to work. I'd like to know what to do in my spare time that will keep me in the future. I'd like to join a branch of the service. This has been my lifelong ambition, but I understand they won't take girls without high school educations. TRIXIE high price for your sister's convenience. It would be best if you went back to school and let your sister stay home, at least until you finish high school. Most employers will be closed to you without a better education than you have. Talk this over with your folks and try to get back to school.
Dear Trixie: You're paying a

Dear Dorothy Dix: My problem is my mother. Every time a boy comes around it means a fuss. A boy can't bring me home from school in a car because he might have a wreck. Mother spoils the few dates I have by giving me last minute instructions that take half an hour such as, "Behave yourself," "Be home early," etc., etc. This is embarrassing because it seems as if she doesn't trust me. I'm 16. What can I do?

Dear Babs: Mom is a chronic worrier and there's absolutely nothing you can do about her. Be grateful for the occasional dates she permits and resign yourself to the last minute barrage of warnings. Keep in mind that she loves you, has your welfare at heart, and will probably ease up one of these days.

GM Appeals to Workers for Agreement

By DWIGHT PITKIN

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors today appealed to 330,000 hourly rate workers for prompt agreement to the only wage proposal the company says it intends to make.

GM President Harlow H. Curtice made the appeal in a letter mailed to employees Monday. In the letter Curtice again went over the heads of United Auto Workers leaders who have rejected the GM offer to renew the 2 1/2 per cent wage formula of the present contract.

The company estimates union demands, exclusive of profit sharing, would amount to an increase of 73 cents an hour per employee. The union denies this but has given no estimate of its wage and fringe demands.

Curtice followed up a similar letter he sent employees May 3. GM's bid for rank and file sub-who is oversexed and lonely. I wish to continue my correspondence but my husband opposes the idea. What do you think? SUSIE

Dear Susie: I take sides with your husband. I'm sure when the soldier knows you are married, he will be quite willing to abandon the correspondence.

Year Ago a Tornado Hit Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A similar memorial is the only structural reminder that a year ago today a tornado whirled through suburban Ruskin Heights at more than 500 miles an hour.

Forty-seven graves are an eternal reminder.

The flattened homes, the unbelievable rubble, the upturned cars are no longer there. Ruskin Heights has been rebuilt.

The work that has been done is not so much reconstruction as it is restoration.

If you didn't go through those frenzied minutes yourself, you have to look at pictures to see the change.

From the air today the streets form the same gentle S curves they did after the tornado. But then they looked straight, like a wheatfield after harvest. Today you are struck by the sharply defined lines of the light rooftops. The tornado was spawned at 5:30 p.m. from black rain clouds at Emporia, Kan., some 100 miles away. It moved northeastward, killing at Ottawa and Hill City in Kansas, destroyed Martin City, Mo., and did its worst at Ruskin Heights.

Thirty-nine persons were killed and 113 homes destroyed or damaged there.

The memorial, a brick structure about 15 feet high, is located at the center of the devastated Ruskin Heights area. It was dedicated Monday while 2,000 persons watched.

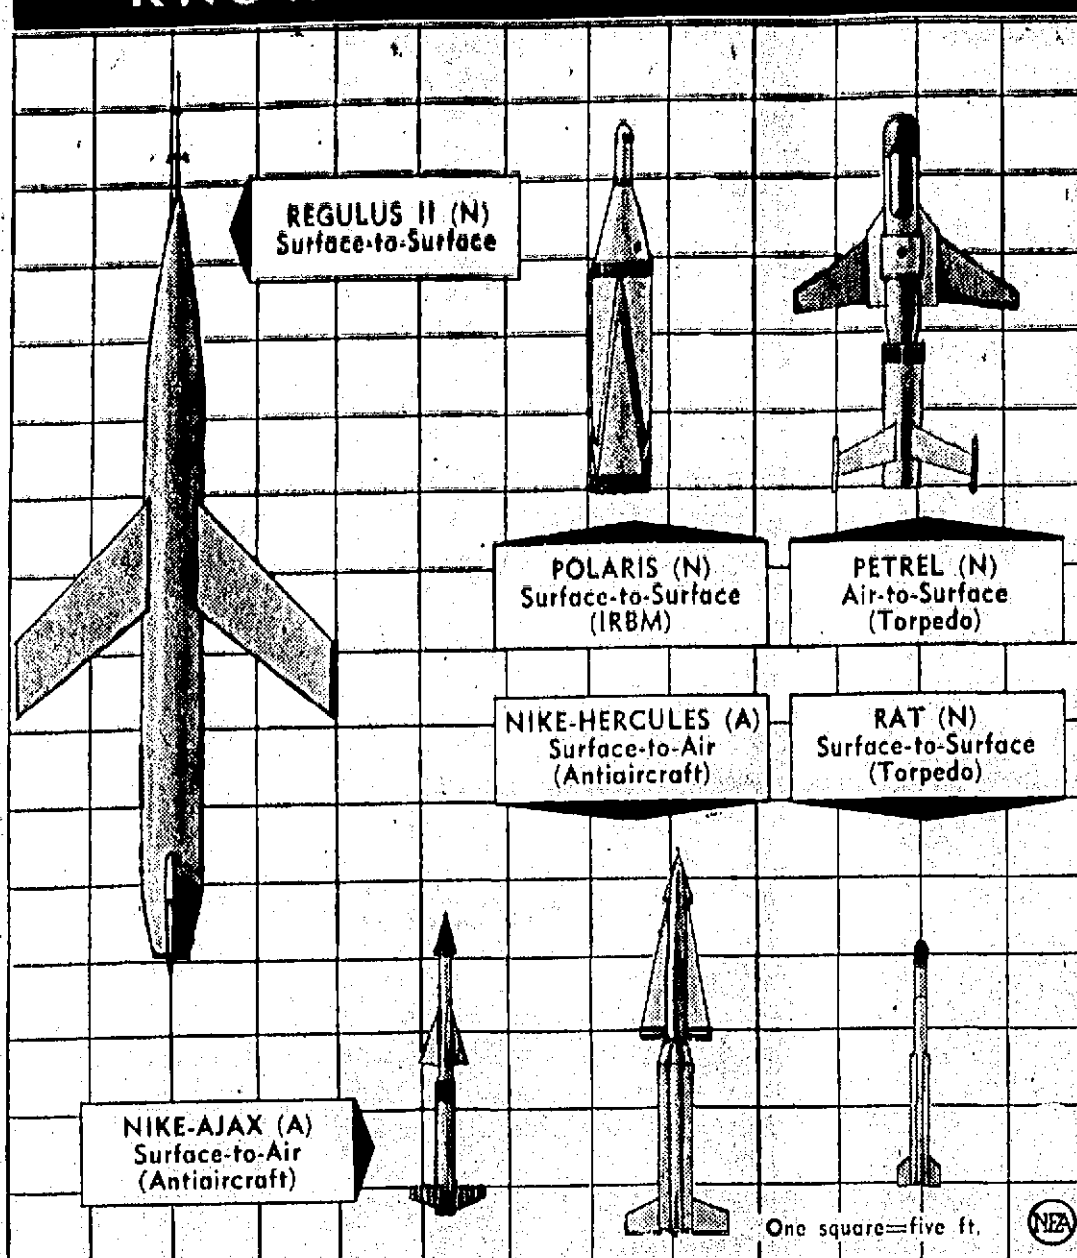

It has three windows at the top. "They symbolize faith, hope and love," said N. M. Beach, president of the Ruskin Heights Homes Assn. "They are the things that rebuilt Ruskin Heights."

FOUND ROUTE

First explorer to discover the sea route to India by way of the Cape of Good Hope was Vasco Da Gama, Portuguese navigator, who sailed around it in 1497.

State Senator Thomas B. Craighead fought bitterly to keep the county which bears his name from being formed because he didn't want his home county of Mississippi to lose the acreage.

KNOW YOUR MISSILES-3

Missile punch of the modern Navy is shown in chart above. Regulus II is bigger, faster version of Regulus I (now currently in use) and is expected to replace it early in 1959. The first of seven subs to carry two Regulus II's each was recently commissioned. Polaris is a solid intermediate range missile (1,500-mile) to be launched from submerged submarines. Operational by 1960, a full test is scheduled for late 1959. Petrel and RAT (rocket-assisted torpedo) are anti-aircraft weapons stationed around America's cities—about 245 installations have been built. Nike-Hercules, improved version is in production, will replace Ajax beginning this year.

Testimony Deals With Slayer's Sanity

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Testimony on the sanity of mass slayer Charles Starkweather resumes today with Starkweather angry because a key defense witness called him insane.

Starkweather was so mad Monday at the testimony of Dr. Nathan Greenbaum, Kansas City psychologist, that he told a defense psychiatrist he could kill Greenbaum.

Dr. Greenbaum testified he believes Starkweather has a severe mental disorder and "his emotional gun is always cocked and he has a hair trigger on it."

During a recess Dr. John J. O'Hearne, defense psychiatrist from Kansas City, asked Starkweather what he thought about the present testimony. The present separate House and Senate space committees would be abolished in favor of a single House-Senate joint committee on space, similar to the joint committee on atomic energy.

The committee recommended civilian development of atomic rocket power, pioneering beyond the moon and building of weather and communications satellites.

Dr. O'Hearne testified that Starkweather exploded. "If I had a grenade, I'd kill Greenbaum."

Starkweather is being tried in the slaying of Robert Jensen, 17, one of 10 persons in whose deaths last January he has admitted involvement.

NEW LOOK IN SOUTHERN JURIES—South Carolina's first integrated petit jury with lady jurors was drawn in Federal Court in Florence. It was the first time women have been selected for petit jury in the state. The lady jurors are Mrs. Thomas Gasque, left, of Marion, and Mrs. William G. McCutchen, Bishopville. This also marked the first time in South Carolina history that Negroes have served on the same jury with white women. They were selected to hear a federal grain manipulation case.

FAITH AND HOPE—Resting on wheeled stretchers, pilgrims throng the famed Grotto of Lourdes, France, praying for divine intercession to heal their afflictions. Crowds of up to 70,000 persons have visited the Roman Catholic shrine in a single day. Many miraculous cures have been attributed to the shrine since the vision of Virgin Mary appeared there to a peasant girl, Bernadette Soubirous, a hundred years ago.

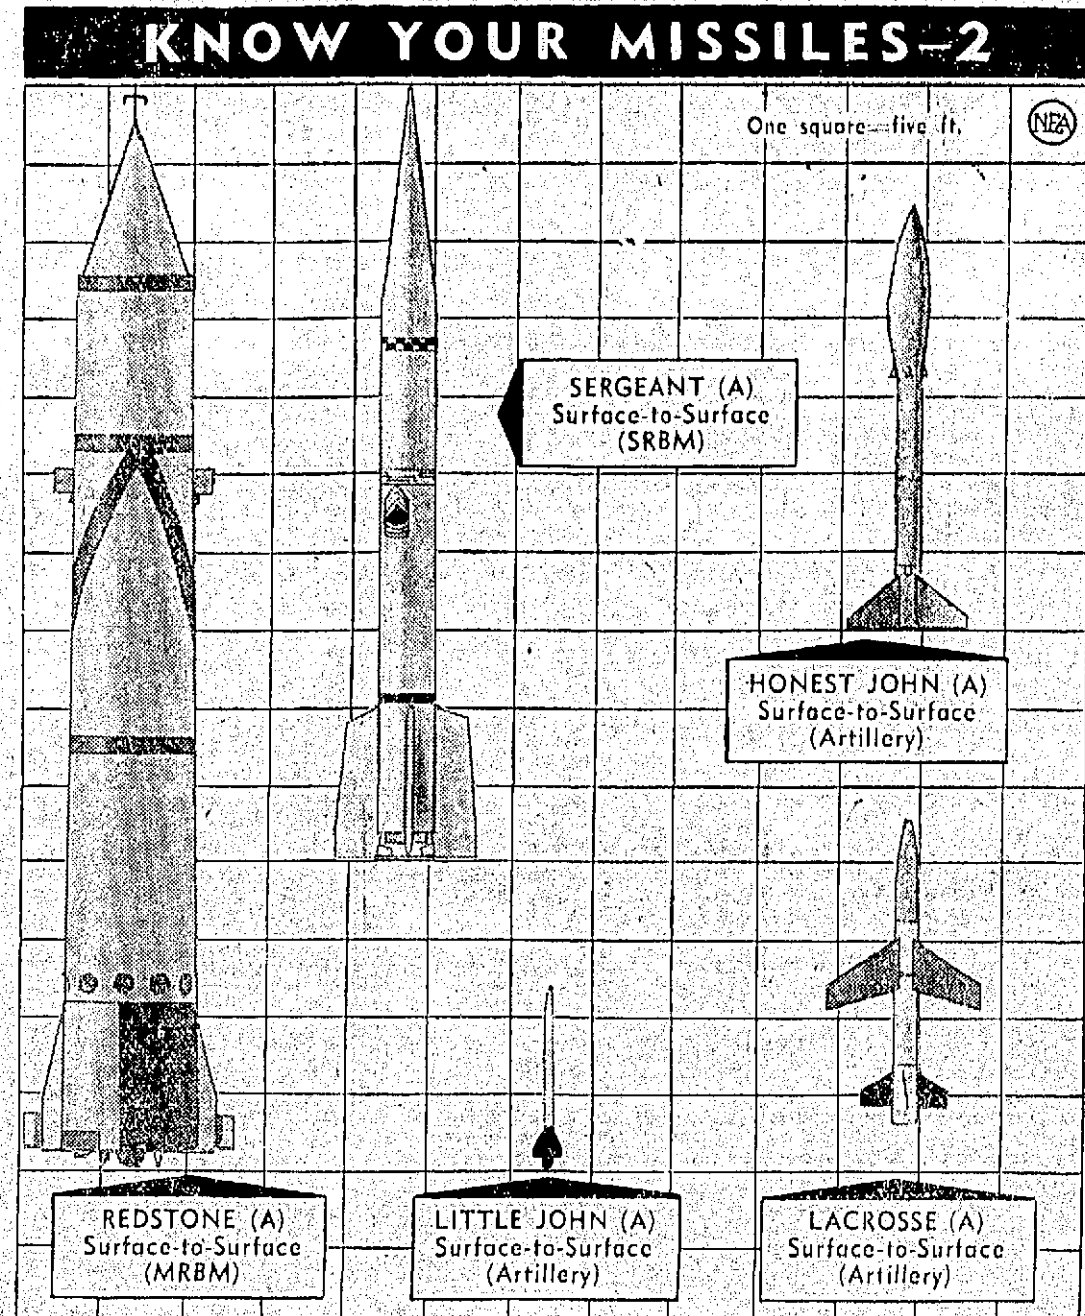

NEXT TIME HE WANTS A WHALE—No one is going to believe Murphey Landels when he talks about his first fishing trip. Landels dropped a hammered bronze spinner into Willamette Slough, north of Portland, Ore., and came up with this 44-pound Chinook salmon.

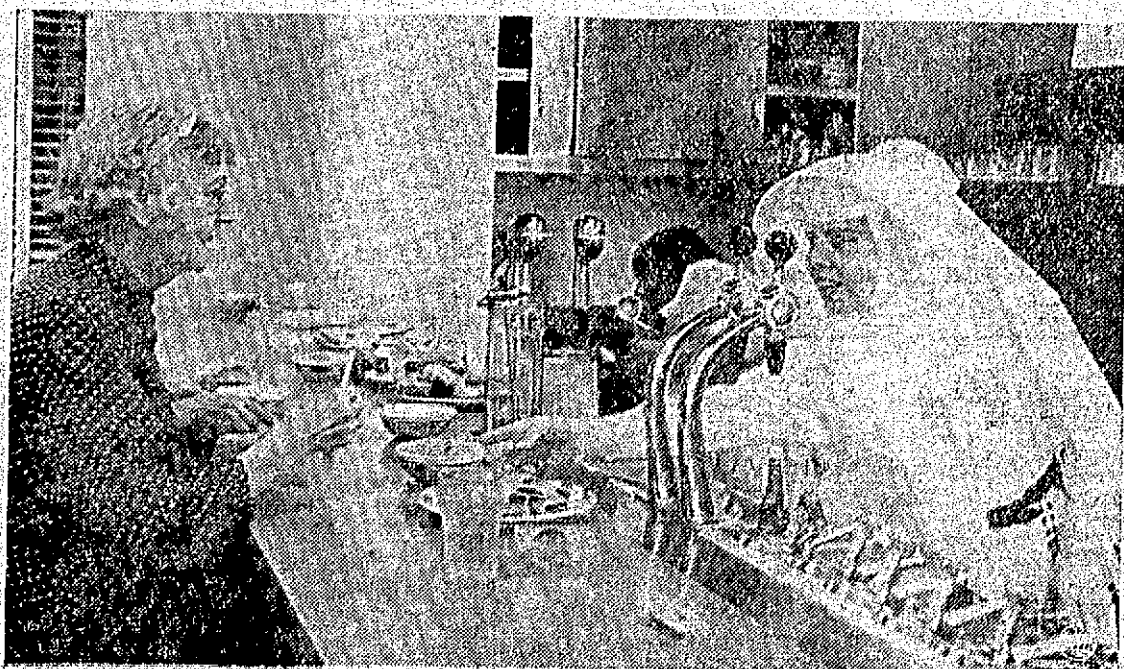

CORNERING SPACE—Artist's drawing above depicts the corner reflector sub-satellite developed by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. The large but exceedingly lightweight earth satellite can be compactly folded for launching into orbit, and then pneumatically erected to shape by means of compressed air. It weighs only 87 pounds and when inflated it is 12 feet in diameter. Being in the shape of a corner reflector and covered with aluminum foil, the satellite will be the most efficient reflector of radar signals. Because of its large size, it would appear as bright as the North Star. It is being aimed so as to loop about the moon, its flight could be followed both going and returning. This would make it possible to verify calculations of the path that would be followed later by instruments of manned space vehicles to be used for exploring space flight in the vicinity of the moon. It is constructed of Mylar plastic film .0005 inch thick, that is covered with aluminum foil .0005 inch thick.

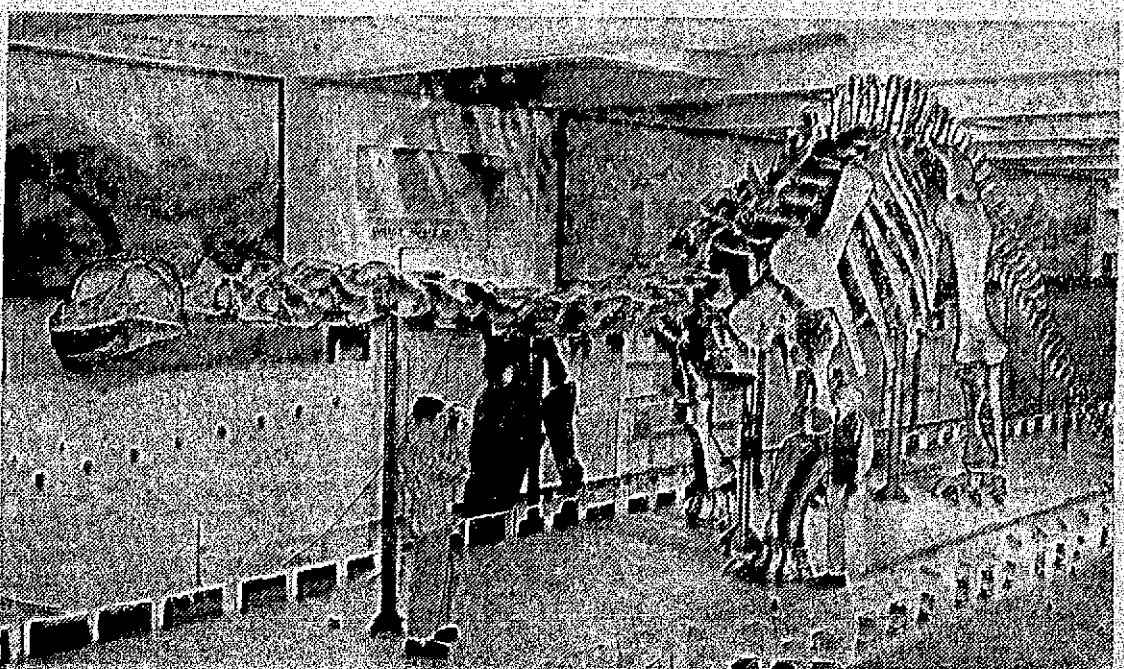

HOW TO GET A DATE IN MOROCCO—Basket-laden donkeys are all but hidden by their burden of woven baskets near Djork, Morocco. Their driver, left, heads them toward a stand of date palms ready for harvesting, where baskets will be packed with the fruit.

Five important weapons of the rocket-age American Army are shown above. Backbone of the Army arsenal is the medium-range (200-plus miles) ballistic missile Redstone, now operational. Short-range Sergeant is under development; will replace the slightly smaller Corporal. Honest John, Little John and Lacrosse are short-range, mobile, tactical artillery weapons. All of these missiles are operational.

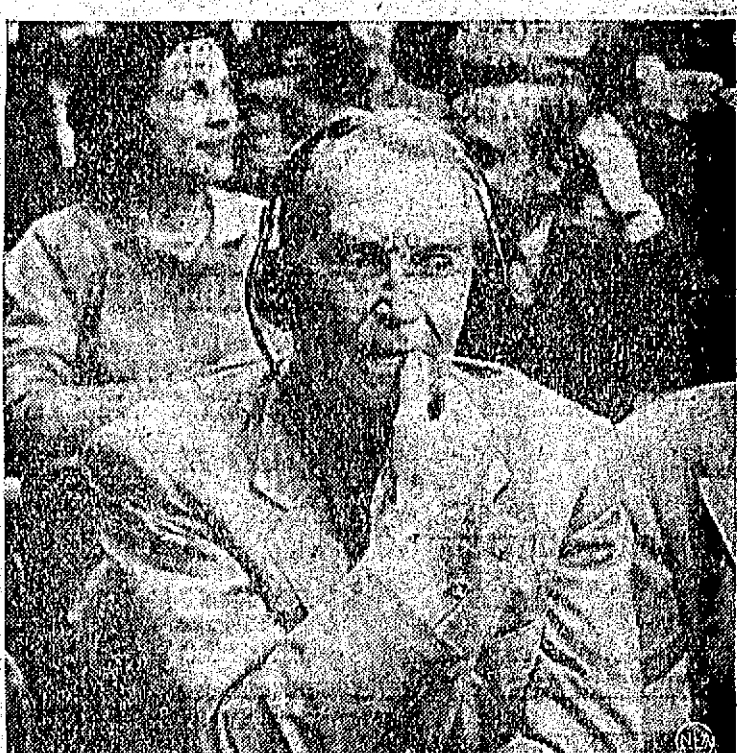

HOME WAS NEVER LIKE THIS—It's service with a smile as Sister Christine serves Mrs. Sarah Hinton at the snack bar in Carroll Manor, a recently completed home for the aged at Hyattsville, Md. The home, built at a cost of $2,725,000, is staffed by Carmelite Sisters. It can accommodate 200 aged and infirm. In addition to the snack bar, Carroll Manor also has a regular bar where the oldsters can have a quick pick-me-up.

LITTLE BEFORE HIS TIME—Ernie Warner, 15, right, gazes at an old-time North American museum exhibit in Chicago's Natural History Museum. The skeleton of a prehistoric creature is 72 feet long. Reconstruction of the 30-ton, 150,000-year-old creature's chassis is complete after 2,000 man hours of work over a 126-year period. Behind the camera is Russell Myers, 14. Both lads are from Neoga, Ill.

MILKMAIDS—There's no need to give these young ladies a seat—they all have one at Kempen, Germany. The girls have their one-legged milking stools already attached as they prepare to compete for the title of fastest Bavarian milkmaid.

AMBASSADOR OF GOOD WILL—Famed French entertainer Maurice Chevalier chews on a thumbnail while he listens in on a United Nations session in New York. The normally lighthearted Chevalier seems to be taking all that's being said seriously.

TAPED TO THEIR MEASURE—Teaching through use of tape-recorded lessons, a relatively new technique, is practiced at Immaculate Conception school, Grand Prairie, Tex. Several tape recorders are used, and each child hears a lesson keyed to the level of his ability as determined by the academic group in which he has been placed. Students are not told to which groups they belong.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If the rest of the American League is going to escape complete demolition by the maturing New York Yankees, now is the time to do something about it.

While the league leaders are in the West.

None of the Eastern teams could cope with the Bronx Bombers, who built up a record 6½-game first-month lead. Eastern teams contributed to 17 of their victories and only four of their defeats. The Yanks have won six straight for a 9-5 record.

Their getaway is the fastest in American League history. Not the 0-5 figure, but the 6½-game lead. The 1946 Boston Red Sox won 21 of their first 24 but the Yankees that year hung on with them, and the gap was 3½ lengths after the first two dozen games.

There was no American League action Monday.

A couple of exhibition games were played with National League teams. The San Francisco Giants drubbed the Chicago White Sox 10-1 and the Philadelphia Phillies nipped the Washington Senators 7-6.

The Yankees' first Western stop is in Chicago, the league's biggest disappointment. Dick Donovan is slated to oppose the New Yorkers tonight with Johnny Kucks opening for the Yankees. Southpaw Billy Pierce and Whitey Ford will clash in Wednesday's finale.

The second-place Athletics will take on the Washington Senators tonight, the third-place Indians will engage the Boston Red Sox and the fourth-place Baltimore Orioles will be guests of the Tigers.

Rain Slows Up Play in the Southern

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain, tormenting the Southern Assn. this spring as never before, washed out the entire program last night and delayed a Chattanooga assault on one of the league's strongest fixtures.

It has been a decade since the Lookouts won their first appearance of the season in Atlanta's Ponce de Leon park. And since 1949 they have won only 27 of 89 games there.

Billy Dufour (3-1) who once led the Lookouts to a 1946 Eastern League championship, is Manager John Mahan's choice to fracture the Atlanta's hot light. The Crackers will counter with Paul Cave (4-2), who was mauling off the mound in the first inning Sunday by the Chicks.

Weather permitting, Mobile will play at Little Rock, Nashville at Birmingham and New Orleans at Memphis.

Last night's washout sent the postponement total soaring to 28 with the season barely more than one month old.

A combination of damp, cold weather and the public's growing rejection of minor league baseball has resulted in a 10½ per cent decline in Southern attendance this year compared with 1957, which was no banner year itself.

If the present pace continues, the league is certain to drop below the one-million mark for the first time since 1943 a wartime season when only 140 games were played.

Many writers who cover the games say the league is also losing part of its fan base. Most teams, however, have strengthened considerably in the past few weeks, and a close race is in prospect.

Atlanta overcame a shaky start and grabbed the league lead last week from Birmingham while building a five-game winning streak. Chattanooga has won eight in a row after a miserable beginning, and is beginning to challenge the leaders. Mobile, much tougher than last year, remains in the first division. Nashville looks better, combining veteran hitters with an impressive young pitching staff. Birmingham, only two lengths off the pace, sees a good chance for the first Baron pennant since 1931 with Cal Brmer managing a well balanced lineup.

Memphis, New Orleans and Little Rock need help. If their major

Braves Take Redlegs in 12-Inning Night Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Andy Panko definitely is no lone of the "night riders" Jackie Robinson referred to a couple of years ago when he accused several unidentified Milwaukee athletes of extracurricular activities. But the veteran outfielder sure loves to play after dark.

Panko proved again Monday night he is one of the best "night chasers" in the National League when he slugged a home run, double and single, and drove in two runs in the Braves' 4-3 overtime victory in Cincinnati.

Of Pat. 37, now relegated to part-time chores, always could hit better under the light than in daylight. Last year, for instance, he batted a rousing .344 in 44 night games compared with a microscopic .185 in 30 day games. Six of his eight homers and 17 of his 28 RBIs came under the stars.

Milwaukee's victory, in the only action on the major league front, returned the defending champions to the top, 11 percentage points above the San Francisco Giants, only thing that mirrored the Braves' sixth victory in eight meetings with the Redlegs was the failure of unbeaten Warren Spahn to hang up his seventh straight victory.

All teams go into action tonight with Los Angeles at Milwaukee, St. Louis at Philadelphia, San Francisco at Cincinnati and Chicago at Pittsburgh.

Dodgers Office Not Pleased With Snider

MILWAUKEE (U) — Vice President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi of the Los Angeles Dodgers is angry at Duke Snider again, but there is little Bavasi can do that he hasn't done before—except trade him.

He said Monday night he isn't trying to trade Snider.

What's more, Snider doesn't want to be traded.

The flareup followed Bavasi's upcomplimentary remarks about what he termed Snider's indifference and poor play.

"I'm not mad at Snider the man," Bavasi said, "but I'm mad at Snider the ballplayer. Such a waste. Here he's hitting .225 with only five RBIs. He ought to be ashamed of himself."

"I can't understand the Duke," Bavasi continued. "He has all the talent in the world, but he doesn't seem to want to apply it to baseball. Maybe he ought to try something else."

Bavasi made the remarks early Monday and again Monday night, but Snider said he didn't know about them until many hours later when he was contacted by telephone at a local hotel where the Dodgers stay when they play the Braves.

"If he has a beef, why doesn't he come and see me about it before talking to some writers?" said Snider. "When I have a good left leg again, I'll hit. Until then I'll do the best I can. If that's not good enough, then that's too bad."

Asked if he would rather draw his paycheck from some other team, Snider replied: "No, definitely not. I don't want to be traded. I like it in Los Angeles."

Ovation Given to Lanky Piano Player

NEW YORK (U) — A lanky, blond Texan who plays the piano was a hero in his own country Monday night.

All but two of the 2,840 persons who jammed Carnegie Hall welcomed home Van Cliburn with a tumultuous ovation.

At the intermission that followed the first of his two offerings, Cliburn was able to report back-stage, as he changed his sweat-soaked shirt, that the feeling was mutual.

"I'm so happy to be home again," he said.

Today the city gives the 23-year-old Texan a ticker-tape parade. The two who did not join in the applause at the recital were Harvey Lavan Cliburn Sr. and his wife, the former Rildia Bee O'Bryan. They seemed transfixed with the reception their son had received.

This was the first time Cliburn was heard here since he won the international Tchaikovsky contest in Moscow a month ago and became somewhat of an international at good will ambassador.

W. G. Rogers, Associated Press arts editor, wrote in his review of Cliburn's recital: "He had a

Ward Group to Form in NE Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (U) — Chancellor Lee Ward of Pinebluff will form a Northeast Arkansas Assn. this week to advance his bid for Democratic nomination as governor.

Ward said yesterday that he will hold an area meeting Friday with some of his supporters to form an association. He said the group will operate from an office at Pinebluff.

Ward will attend a Northeast Arkansas Bar Assn. meeting at Jonesboro today. Tomorrow he will visit Pine Bluff and Jacksonville and will go to Imboden Thursday night.

Bear State Has to Import Bears

LITTLE ROCK (U) — Arkansas, once known as the Bear State because it had so many of them, now is going to import the animals.

The State Game and Fish Commission yesterday authorized capture of about 20 black bears in Minnesota this summer. The bears will be released in the Ozark Mountains to help build up Arkansas' declining bear population.

Henry C. Gray, assistant federal wildlife coordinator for the commission, will direct the project. Gray said he planned to use an air rifle firing a chemical pellet to stun the animals and permit their capture.

The commission continued in six feet for another five years closing off the Arkansian area of the State. Major Announcements about the capture of bears in Minnesota have already been placed for several years.

Also ordered closed to hunters for five years was an area north of Little Rock that includes parts of the Buffalo River State Park. Backers of the move said wildlife in the area had almost been wiped out.

Attorney Has Praise for the NAACP

MEMPHIS (U) — A Negro attorney to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said last night the Little Rock school integration crisis was a big step forward in the overall movement against racial segregation.

Mrs. Constance Moley of New York spoke at a meeting here to observe the fourth anniversary of the U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

Referring to President Eisenhower's use of troops to guard Negro children attending Central High School in Little Rock, Mrs. Moley said:

"Little Rock was bad publicity for the government, but we now know what the U. S. government is willing to do. The executive branch is willing to back up the Supreme Court. The significance of Little Rock is that the national government is willing to back up and protect Negro children in integrated school situations."

The woman attorney said that since the 1954 high court decision 300,000 Negroes have been integrated into schools with two million whites.

Highway Official, Wife Injured

PINE BLUFF, Ark., May 19.—Arkansas Highway Commissioner Cecil S. Lynch and his wife were injured in an automobile accident on U. S. Highway 65 while on the way to Little Rock today.

The Lynches, who live at Pine Bluff, were hospitalized here. Hospital attendants said Lynch suffered a pelvic fracture and lacerations and his wife had several broken ribs and a dislocated shoulder.

Both were in serious condition. State Police could not give details of the accident immediately but said apparently the Lynches' automobile ran off the highway. It was not known immediately whether another vehicle was involved.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch were going to Little Rock to attend the funeral of Ralph Teed, executive vice president of the Arkansas Power & Light Co. Lynch is a director of the utility.

RELATIONSHIP

Robert E. Lee was the son-in-law of George Washington's step-grandson, who was also Washington's adopted son, George Washington Parke Custis, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Ident of the Arkansas Power & Light Co. Lynch is a director of the utility.

The accident reportedly occurred in Pulaski County.

THE STORY: The member of the Mohican underground, who has contacted Milo March on his visit to the Mohican Republic, is a girl named Juana Ramos. Milo hopes to find a missing manuscript insured for $75,000 exposing the Mohican dictator.

CHAPTER XIV

I was up early the next morning and had breakfast in the room. Then I showered and got dressed. I tucked my gun and holster under my shirts in the dresser and took off for the Palace.

I went through a whole battalion of minor-domos, clerks and secretaries. But I finally arrived with a combination of an advertising account executive and a thug who merely wanted to make sure that I was Milo March and then he led me into an office large enough to have served as a ballroom. There was a man seated at a rather large ornate desk.

"Generalissimo," my companion said, "the American with whom you have the appointment, Señor Milo March."

He then withdrew, leaving me standing in the middle of the Turkish-carpeted desert. The man behind the desk stood up and I took my first look at Torcido.

He was somewhere in his late sixties, but still straight and firm. He wore a military uniform, patterned after those of American staff officers, but with no insignia. His face was like old rock that had been chipped and gouged at without really being harmed. The hair was mostly white.

As I drew nearer I saw that his eyes were as much like granite as the rest of his face. His expression might have been called kindly, yet looking at his face it was even easier to believe all the stories that had been told about him.

"Señor March," he said, "it is good of you to visit my country. The smile did nothing for his face except to widen his mouth."

"Thank you, Generalissimo," I shook hands with him. "I had doubted it would be possible for a mere visitor to see one as busy as yourself."

"I always have time for Americans and Americans," he said. "I have long had an admiration for your country. In my youth, I served in the American Army for a time. All of my sons have gone to military schools in America. I am proud of whatever connection I have with your country."

I hope had with your country. If you have a minute to spare, Señor March, I should like to show you something." He stepped from behind his desk.

He walked swiftly across the room without waiting to see if I had a minute to spare. He threw open the doors into another room.

"This," he said over his shoulder, "is my own personal museum. Everything in here has been important or dear to me in some way."

The walls on either side were lined with glass cabinets. In each one there were objects hanging on the wall or placed on shelves.

"But these," he said, stopping in front of one of the cabinets, "are my proudest possessions."

I gazed through the glass. It was an American uniform of the type worn in the First World War. It looked as if it were about to fall to pieces. On a shelf in front of it there was a medal with faded ribbon.

"The uniform I wore in the United States Army," the old man said, "and that is the medal I was awarded. Since then I have been decorated with medals from all over the world, but that is the one I am proud of."

As near as I could see it was merely a Good Conduct Medal. But who was I to sneer at that? I'd spent a lot of time in the Army and they'd never given me anything for good conduct.

"I don't blame you, sir," I said. I caught sight of a large table a few feet away. There were several guns and knives on it, each one lagged with a white card. There were also several books, a pile of newspapers, several letters, and two manuscripts. One had a blue cover.

"The table," Torcido said evenly, "contains souvenirs of attempts to destroy me."

Until that moment I hadn't been sure whether Torcido would know why I was here. But then I knew he had been told for he was watching me, with those eyes like old stone, the way an animal watches its prey. I happen to be quite farsighted and even at that distance I could read the lettering on the front of the manuscript with the blue cover. It was "The Bloody Reign of Torcido by Jaime Moreno."

"Would you like to look at them?" he asked softly.

"Not especially," I said.

casually, I turned and looked into another cabinet where there were a number of ornate silver cups. "Some day before I leave the Mohican Republic I would like to come back and see the entire museum, if you will grant me that privilege. I would prefer, however, to do it after I have concluded my business in the Mohican Republic when I can perhaps devote myself to some moments of pleasure."

"You may call at any time and make an appointment. I, myself, will personally conduct you through this room. An dyou must forgive me, Señor March, for stealing this much time from your business. I'm an old man and sometimes I forget that there are young men who are in a hurry. He didn't mean any of it, especially the part about being an old man. You could tell by the way he looked and moved that he thought he could still take anyone, regardless of age. And maybe he could.
